NO. 16

O. OF I. A. CONVENTION

FIVE BANDS, TWO DRUM CORPS AND 500 MEN IN LINE.

Carlisle Awarded Prize for Best Drilled Degree Team, Shillington for Largest Number.

The ninth annual convention of the State Council Order of Independent Americans was marked by as fine a parade as the town has had for some years. It took place on Tuesday afternoon of last week as we were going to press. It was composed of five bands, two drum corps and over five hundred men and presented a fine appearance and our local people deserve much credit for their part in the same.

The chief marshal leading the parade was Wm. McG. Tawney with his four aides, Geo. A. Taylor, Luther E. McDonnell, Earl Deardorff and Bernard Hoffman.

The first division was led by J. Louis Sowers and at its head was the Citizens' Band of Gettysburg, looking fine in their new white parade uniforms. Following came several companies of Guards in dress and khaki uniform and after them the officers of the organization in carriages. The Eighth Regiment Band of Carlisle brought up the rear of this division.

The second division was led by Gerus Myers as marshal and was made up of Harrisburg Drum Corps and representatives from a number of councils.

The third division, led by J. W. McDonnell, was composed of the Shillington Band and a number of councils.

The fourth division, led by Samuel G. Spangler, was made up of the Dal lastown Band and a number of councils.

The fifth and last division under Sandoe Kitzmiller as marshal, was composed of the Potstown Band and the council of same place carrying green and red umbrellas.

The local council, No. 717, brought up the rear of the parade.

The parade formed on Springs avenue with divisions on streets branching off from western end of town and the route of the parade was up Chambersburg, to York, to Liberty, to East Middle, to Franklin, to High, to Washington, to Breckenridge, to Baltimore, to Square, to Carlisle, to Water, to Stratton, to York, to Centre Square. Here the parade was reviewed by the officers and judges, C. S. Reaser, H. H. Mertz, Hon. W. T. Ziegler, John D. Keith, Esq., and Martin Winter being the judges. The prize of $30 for the best drilled council in line was awarded the Carlisle council with honorable mention to the Gettysburg council. The prize of $20 to largest council in line was awarded the Shillington council.

At the business session of the convention Tuesday morning J. Louis Sowers presided and the address of welcome was delivered by Hon. Geo. J. Benner. During the business sessions it appeared that there was a total membership in Pennsylvania of the order of 40,319 in 255 councils. The order has had six new councils established during the past year and there has been an increase of over 1000 in membership. The finances have shown a proportionate increase in prosperity. The order is now represented in three States besides Pennsylvania—Ohio, New Jersey and New York.

It was decided to increase the orphans' tax from 10 to 15 cents and the per capita tax from 15 to 18 cents.

Lancaster was chosen over Pottstown and Phoenixville for next year's convention and the following officers were elected: State Counsellor, John F. Lowers, Braddock; State Vice Counsellor, Joseph McClellan, Hazleton; State Council Secretary, William A. Pike, Philadelphia; State Council Treasurer, Charles A. Hendrickson, Pittsburg.

The convention proved all it was expected to be in numbers and after the close of business sessions spent Thursday in battlefield trips and had special entertainments at the Wizard Theatre in the evenings.

Battlefield Council No. 717 O. of I. A. and Committee on State Sessions, extend their thanks to C. S. Reaser, Judges Capt. H. H. Mertz, Hon. Wm. T. Ziegler, John D. Keith, Esq., Martin Winter and all who contributed in any manner to make the same a success.

By Order of Council,
WM. H. FREY,
Rec. Sec.

Sales and Improvements

J. L. Batt, owner of the old McCreary stone building on south side of Chambersburg street adjoining the First National Bank building, sold the same last week to George Crawford of Hagerstown and D. J. Forney of this place. The property faces 60 feet on Chambersburg street and includes the frame building occupied by Rufus Bushman. The purchasers propose to erect a garage on the ground covering the entire rear portion of the lot. The plans for the same are being prepared by John H. Crowe, architect. The garage will be built of hollow tile and will be most excellently situated to take care of part of the constant auto traffic of this place. Entrance to the garage will be provided where frame building now stands and a store room will be provided for all kinds of automobile supplies. The stone building will remain for the present unchanged.

The improvements by Max Davis to the Miller house on Carlisle street have been so advanced that one of the store rooms is finished and occupied by Haines the shoe man.

The fine new store and residence erected by James M. Caldwell at the corner of Chambersburg and Franklin streets on the site of the well known blacksmith shop has been finished and ready for occupancy. He has provided a fine store room and two eight room residences in the building, all provided with modern conveniences.

The ten houses being built for Winter and McPherson on Stratton street under supervision of John H. Crowe, architect, have advanced so far as the joist for the first floor, the foundations have been completed.

W. A. Taughinbaugh, real estate agent, has sold the Harper A. Himes farm of 202 acres in Reading township to Washington Jacobs of Cumberland township for $8700. Mr. Taughinbaugh has also sold the Tilden Myers home in Hampton to Henry Klumdiest.

The cellar for the residence of Wilson Bream on Broad street is in process of excavation.

The cellar foundations of the residence of M. K. Eckert on Springs avenue have been completed and the hollow tile walls of the first story are going up.

The cellar walls of the residence of Dr. J. E. Musselman on same street are being erected.

The John G. Rebert farm in Union township, 713 acres, has been sold to Geo. W. Zepp for $2300.

John Hershey has bought the Peter Kimmel farm in Reading township for $2510.60.

The James R. Neely property in York Springs has been sold by the heirs to Mrs. Sadie J. Albert for $636.

Jesse Snyder has sold his farm in Mt. Joy township to Frank Miller, the tenant for $4400.

The Wm. Hummer property on Stratton street has been sold to Edward Barbehenn for $1225.

Barn Destroyed by Fire.

On Thursday, Sept. 12, fire destroyed barn of Solomon Hoke located in Oxford township and tenanted by S. H. Hoke, together with its contents, 875 bushels of wheat, 50 bushels of oats and rye, 35 tons of hay, 50 tons of straw, a lot of machinery, 4 hogs and a lot of chickens. The loss of owner is placed at $2600 and of the tenant at $1350. There was some insurance in York county companies. The origin of the fire is a mystery it breaking out during threshing. The thrasher was destroyed. The horses and live stock were saved.

Work at Federal Building.

Last week the first of the fluted columns for the front of the Federal Building was received. The column is in three pieces and they were at once erected. The stone work at the building is progressing as fast as masonry is received from the quarries. The southern end is so far completed that the steel work for the roof was begun to be erected.

Mr. Bradford took charge of the work about ten days ago as the representative of the contractor, Ambrose Stannard. He succeeded Mr. J. B. Fantini who has been the contractor's representative since work began about a year ago. Mr. Fantini was thorough in all his work and great credit is due to him for the thoroughness and care with which all work has been done. Mr. Fantini made many friends in this place and takes with him their best wishes in leaving to take up similar work in the south.

HELP WANTED IN GETTYSBURG

And Furnished by the Help of Gettysburg People.

Those who suffer with kidney backache, urinary ills or any little kidney or bladder disorder, want kidney help. Who can better advise than some Gettysburg resident, who has also suffered, but has had relief. Gettysburg people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's one case and there are many others.

John A. Tawney, 234 Baltimore street, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I still use Doan's Kidney Pills, in fact I always keep them in the house and take a few doses occasionally to keep my kidneys in good working order. You may continue publishing my former endorsement of this remedy. I suffered off and on from pains in the kidneys. I was so lame and stiff that I could hardly get out of bed. Someone advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a supply at the People's Drug Store. It didn't take them long to give me relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING

LEHMAN-GRANVILLE NUPTIALS IN COLLEGE CHURCH.

Reception Followed at Home of the Bride—Bride and Groom Will Make Their Home in Harrisburg.

The College Lutheran Church on last Wednesday evening was the scene of a beautiful wedding in the celebration of the Lehman-Granville nuptials. The church was tastefully decorated, a great bank of green plants and white lilies being in front of the organ. Mark K. Eckert as a procession-ary played the Lohengrin March and the bridal party entered church in following order:

The groom, Samuel Frantz Lehman, with his best man, R. Bruce Albert, entered by the west aisle. The six ushers, Oliver D. Mosser of Chicago, Richard Z. McGowan of Pittsburgh, Donald J. Keller of Bloomsburg, Frederick Dapp of Harrisburg, J. Perry King of Kittanning, and Frank Comfort of Mechanicsburg, led the way down the east aisle.

The bridesmaids followed next in line. They were Miss Grace Keefe of Springfield, Mass., Miss Julia Boright of Chatham, N. Y., Miss Louise Adams of Providence, R. I., and Miss Louise Duncan of Gettysburg. They wore gowns of blue crepe meteor with pailers of blue chiffon and court trains, carrying armfuls of deep pink cosmos tied with gold chiffon ribbon. The color scheme of the bridal party being blue and gold. Miss Rachel Granville preceded the bride as maid of honor and wore a gown of gold taffeta with court train and wore a large bunch of Marshal Niel roses.

The bride, Miss Irene Granville, approached the altar on the arm of her father, Dr. William A. Granville, president of Gettysburg College. The gown of the bride was of white crepe de chine trimmed with Duchess lace, and with a long court train. She wore a veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Dr. J. A. Singmaster performed the ceremony using the ring service, and as the bridal party left the church Mr. Eckert played the Mendelssohn March as a recessional.

Prior to the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the White House on the campus to wedding party and a few guests. The bride presented the maid of honor a handsome ring with diamond setting, and the bridesmaids gold chains of carved jade pendants. The groom's gift to his best man was a ring with Phi Kappa Psi coat of arms and to his ushers monogram scarf pins. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, Dr. and Mrs. Granville, the bride and groom and latter's father, Charles Lehman, of Greensburg, Pa., receiving the guests. The College Orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. The bride and groom left on a honeymoon trip by auto, going to York and from there by train. After October 1st they will be at home at Harrisburg. The bride received many handsome gifts of money, a piano, silver, cut glass, china and linen.

Among the out of town guests were Charles Lehman, Miss Florence Lehman, Miss Una Lehman, Miss Jennie Hansen, Greensburg; Miss Martha Boyer, Chicago; Ralph Reed, New Haven, Conn.

DEININGER-THORN—Lester A. Deininger and Miss Hazel Thorn, both of Gettysburg, were married at the St. James Lutheran parsonage at eight o'clock Wednesday evening by Rev. J. B. Baker. Miss Thorn is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Thorn of Chambersburg street. The groom is an expert carver with the Reaser Furniture Company. They left by automobile for Hanover after the ceremony and from there to York. Later they started on a two weeks' trip to Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Williamsport and Hughesville. They will reside in the Stock building on Chambersburg street upon their return.

ALTHOFF-MANN—Chas. E. Althoff of Carlisle, son of Mrs. Pius Althoff of this place, and Miss Florence Mann of Carlisle, were married in Carlisle on Wednesday, Sept. 11, by Rev. Fr. Welsh. They spent their honeymoon at Atlantic City, returning to Carlisle this week.

BELL-REIFSNIDER—On Sept. 17, at Emmitsburg, by Rev. L. H. Hensley, Lewis Bell of Liberty township, and Miss Mary Reifsnider were united in marriage. A reception at home of the groom followed where they will reside.

BUSHEY-CARR—Preston Bushey, a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bushey, of McSherrystown, and Miss Hilda Carr, daughter of Charles Carr, of Hanover, were married at a nuptial high mass Sept. 17th, in St. Mary's Church, McSherrystown, by Rev. L. Aug. Reutter. They were attended by Guy Bushey, a brother, and Miss Mary McCann, a cousin of the groom. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the groom's home and a reception was tendered the young couple at that place the same evening. Mr. and Mrs. Bushey will reside at the home of the groom's parents, for the present.

Parent-Teachers Association.

The first meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association in the new school year was held last Friday evening in the High School building, York street. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Wm. Seligman, the vice president, Mrs. Wm. Arch. McClean, presided.

Prof. Chas. F. Sanders gave a splendid, inspiring address on the subject of "Co-operation," defining the word: "to give the teacher all the help that can be given, all the sympathy and all the support that can be given. He said there should be not only moral co-operation, in keeping up the spirit of the school but also financial support. He was glad to see the step made to secure manual training and if it results in taxes being laid a little higher, it will give the children a better result. Communities grow in strength and power as they put more money in the school and less money in courts, in jails, and in policemen. If this association can awaken and inspire this community, what good the school will accomplish, for the school held every week day was an opportunity for influence far greater than the Church in one day. It is a splendid thing to put in manual training but it is still a more splendid thing to put more money in the teacher to have more efficient teaching. The effort should be to keep the best teachers and give them the opportunity of making the best of their abilities. Many of them went to summer schools in order to come back and give more to the work and children they love. Prof. Sanders pointed to the co-operation needed between the parenthood of the town and the teachers in preventing the physical abuse and moral deterioration of the small boy that comes through the smoking of cigarettes and he said any one could see the extent of this habit by watching the boys going to and from school. He closed his remarks by urging the association to give moral and financial co-operation at all times between the parenthood of the community and the teachers.

Willie Troxel played a selection on the piano.

Wm. Arch. McClean gave a short talk on "Practical Suggestions" and presented the thought that more attention could be given the near things, the geography and history of the town and county, that the interest of the children would be easier led from the concrete things of their environment, to the same subjects further away, and he recommended that in every school room in the town there should be a map of the country, a map of the town and a map of the battlefield and a short drill of once a week would make the children better acquainted with their environment.

After a piano solo by Miss Frances Fritchey, the regular business meeting of the association took place.

Miss Maud Miller being appointed secretary, read the minutes. Mrs. Nixon made brief report for committee on membership and Mrs. E. A. Weaver for the committee on visiting schools.

Miss Helen Cope, chairman of the Committee on Collection of Funds for the Manual Training Department reported that $155 had been collected from citizens of the town. Prof. Burgoon reported that $87 had been expended for tools and that the selection of the tools had been such that manual training schools for the State had found necessary. $100 more would be needed for the purchase of 20 work benches and there would be other expense besides. He told of the class started in basketry and raffia work. A motion carried that the Committee on Manual Training be continued with authority to collect and complete the work of instituting this branch in the schools.

The coming of the Mothers' Congress of Pennsylvania to Gettysburg on Oct. 17th, 18th and 19th was discussed and a number of committees were appointed.

Paint.

There are two good reasons for painting often enough or even too-often. One, to look prosperous; two, to be so.

Nothing does one more credit or gives one more credit than paint, supplemented of course by what goes with it; and paint costs nothing.

True, the first cost is $5 or $6 a gallon put-on; but it saves more than that in the property; saves it from slow going-down—not always slow—it drops with a jump when water gets in on wood and iron.

Dry wood and iron cost nothing, kept dry by paint.

Better paint when it needs it. Paint never goes down in the sense of being more profitable next year.

DEVOTE.

Thos. J. Winebrenner sells it.

Recent Deaths.

Mrs. Ida Margaret Butterff, widow, died at an attack of acute indigestion and other complications of diseases aged 48 years, 9 months and 18 days. She had been ailing for many years, and for some years had been an invalid, requiring the attention of an assistant at all times. She was a daughter of Franklin and Susan Osborne and is survived by her husband and one son, Franklin Millar, aged about 13 years; two brothers, Charles Osborne, Biglerville, and Allen Osborne near Biglerville. The funeral of Mrs. Millar was held last Thursday with services and interment at Biglerville, Rev. E. E. Dietterich officiating.

JAMES S. BARR, died last Thursday at his home at Guernsey after an illness of ten days from a complication of diseases aged 64 years, 11 months and 7 days. He is survived by a wife, three sons and three daughters, Albert Barr, of York; Clayton and Howard Barr, of near Guernsey; and Mrs. Willis Rosner, of York; Mrs. Harry Rosner, of Guernsey; and Miss Luella Barr, at home; also by one sister, Mrs. Samuel Neiring of Taneytown, Md.

The funeral was held Saturday, September 21st, interment in Evergreen cemetery, Gettysburg.

WILLIAM MALAUN died Tuesday, September 17, at the County Home from tuberculosis, aged 39 years. He had been a patient in the insane ward for eleven years. He was a native of Reading township, a son of the late Eli Malaun. Funeral was held last Thursday, interment at Hampton.

WILLIAM H. GREEN died at his home on South Washington street, last Saturday morning from tuberculosis aged 31 years, 2 months and 5 days. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Eliza Green and two brothers, Ferdinand Green, of Allentown; and James Green, of New York. Funeral Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Services at the house. Interment in the colored cemetery.

SARAH EMALINE DEARDORFF HEWITT, widow of Samuel Hewitt, died at the home of her step-mother Mrs. Anna M. Deardorff on Middle St., on Sunday aged 67 years and 1 month. She was the daughter of the late Eph. Deardorff, of Straban township. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, services being conducted by Rev. Bon-sack of the Brethren Church, of which deceased was a member. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery. She is survived by a full brother and sister, J. D. W. Deardorff and Miss Mary M. Deardorff of this place, three step-brothers and two step-sisters, Oscar Deardorff of Straban township, Dr. William Deardorff of Philadelphia, and Charles Deardorff, and Miss Lizzie Deardorff of this place, and Mrs. Albert Hollinger of Cumberland township.

Mrs. MARY BOLDEN, wife of John Bolden, living near Abbottstown, while sitting at the table Friday, Sept. 20, about 4 p. m., was stricken with apoplexy and died a few moments thereafter, aged 75 years. The deceased, before marriage, was a Miss Kahl-baugh, and she is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Baker of Berwick township, also four sisters, Mrs. Wm. Sell, Mrs. Emanuel Sell, and Mrs. Adam Becker of Midway, and Mrs. Amos McClellan of Abbottstown. Funeral on Monday, Sept. 23, services and interment at Dubs' Church, Rev. J. H. Hartman officiating.

Hershey-Delone Case.

The Supreme Court has refused to allow an appeal from Superior Court in case of Catherine Hershey vs Charles J. Delone. The defendant contended that he was not personally responsible for a widow's dower on land he owned but the land must be resorted to. The buildings on land had been destroyed by fire and defendant had collected the insurance but had not replaced buildings, and land without buildings was not worth the dower. Upon trial of case in lower court defendant was held personally responsible for any deficit resulting upon sale of land, and the superior court had affirmed this decision and Supreme Court has now refused to allow case to be brought before that court.

Church Notice.

A service combining elements of Rally Day and Harvest Home will be held in Great Conowago Presbyterian Church next Sunday at 10.30 a. m. The rendering of special music by choir and school, the decorating of the church by the Sunday School classes in competitive test, and a short address by the pastor will be among the features. All friends of the school are invited to attend and share in the pleasure and profit.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet at the home of Misses Sue and Mary Black next Saturday evening. They extend a cordial invitation to all friends to be present.

ELY'S CREAM BALM has been tried and not found wanting in thousands of homes all over the country. It has won a place in the family medicine closet among the reliable household remedies, where it is kept at hand for use in treating cold in the head just as soon as some member of the household begins the preliminary sneezing or snuffling. It gives immediate relief and day or two's treatment will put a stop to a cold which might, if not checked, become chronic and run into a bad case of catarrh.

We invite everybody to call and see our New Fall Styles of Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Haberdashery. They are better than ever. Lewis E. Kirssin, 21 31 Balto., St.

Democratic Mass Meeting.

The Wilson and Marshall Club of Gettysburg, has arranged for a Democratic Mass Meeting on next Friday evening. Turn out and wake it a success. The speakers will be Congressman Thomas G. Hartwick of Georgia, who has been in Congress ten years. Come and hear the great Democratic Congressman, Wm. B. Wilson of Pennsylvania, who began life in the coal mines. Several of the Democratic Candidates for Congressmen at large are expected to be present. Give them a rousing Democratic welcome.

STRADDLING.

The Republican candidate for State Senator John W. Hoke, and for the Legislature, Robt. N. Eldon, who have sold out the party nominating them to the Bull Moozers, are wonderfully reticent and quiet these days. They have no explanations to make of their performance of signing pledge to the Bull Moozers by which they agree to stick a knife in Taft by doing nothing against Roosevelt. They blow hot to the Bull Moozers and cold to the Republicans, or vice versa according to the demands of the situation. Seriously can the Adams county people put any trust in candidates who are willing to straddle two platforms and two parties. Would they ever know what they stood for after election? Our people can only be sure of being represented after election according to pledges given before election by voting for Hon. Wm. A. Martin for the Senate and Vincent A. Collins for the Legislature. They stand on one platform, the Democratic, and every one will know where to find them afterwards. Such are the men to trust with public office.

Remember the Democratic Mass Meeting on next Friday evening in the Court House under auspices of Wilson and Marshall Club. Good speakers, be sure to be there.

WILSON ON LESSONS OF WAR

PEACE MUST BE MADE AS HANDSOME AS WAR.

This will be when Man Has Served Humanity and Not Merely for His Own Private Profit.

Governor Woodrow Wilson in speaking to Spanish-American War veterans recently said:

"It is my privilege to be here tonight to extend the greetings of the State to this body of Spanish War veterans who have gathered for the interesting meeting at which they are engaged in welding again the links of comradeship which bound them together while their country was at war. One cannot greet this particular body without thinking it is a privilege to one State to welcome a body of men whose past history has the significance that attaches to the Spanish-American war, because not until the Spanish-American War did sectional feeling disappear in America, and to welcome the veterans of that war is to experience the satisfaction of thinking that the pulse of the nation for the moment beats in New Jersey, because I believe that future historians will more and more look upon the Spanish war as one of the most important turning points in the development of America as a nation.

"I suppose that in coming together the members of this association are drawn by that impulse of comradeship they want to see men who were comrades in arms, even though they did not personally know them while the armies were in camp and in field, but it seems to me there is something very much greater than comradeship in it. There is the fellowship of it, patriotism, which goes a great deal deeper and which is the only thing that constitutes the true spirit of a nation.

"I belong to a political party. For the time being I represent a political party (applause). But I respect a political party merely as the means of carrying men together for a service, which when they have done to the utmost, they have forgotten parties in a common service."

"The trouble with this country is that it has been blindly at war within itself by a competition of interests when there should have been a union of interests. The way not to cure it is to set one class against another. The way to cure it is to see that classes understand one another and that they all know that there is such a thing as a common interest which touches them all alike.

"Will you men not, having seen this vision, assist to communicate it to the great body of people around us who are inevitably, because of the necessities of life, burdened all day long with the mere necessity of earning what they must eat and what they must wear, and what they must put above their heads by way of shelter? They have not time, many of them, to see the vision. We have camped on the field, some of us. We have been in the battle. We have heard the rattle of small arms, the dull thunder of the cannon, and all the while we have been thrilled through with this impression—that we were on a mission for the American people, and that the arms we bore were typical of a great duty.

"No man who has slept on the tented field and failed to see the vision is a true soldier, and no man is a true patriot who, having once seen the vision, does not lift it high for the contemplation of his fellow-men.

"America has only slowly found her way towards that unity which would naturally have characterized her had she not spread her population over a great continent and experienced the variety of conditions on that great continent, but not until that were we bound together in a common impulse of service or with feeling that the nation was completed and that now at last we feel as a single people.

"I am an advocate of peace and yet I must say that there are some splendid things that come to a nation by the discipline of war. An interesting friend of mine, who is a very ardent and a very efficient friend of peace, wrote a very interesting essay a few

"Honestly, What Are You Running For, the Presidency or For Revenge?"

—From the New York Herald.

"Not all men think alike and therefore men must group themselves according to their convictions and their thoughts; but the impulse back of every one of them must be the same, if it is, indeed, the impulse of patriotic conviction. And so I congratulate you upon having gone to school in at least one of the schools of patriotism. Not the only school, but the school where you have learned that a man must lay down, if need be, his life for those with whom he lives. For you have had that only thing that makes a nation great. You have had a vision of the common interest. I wish that party battles could be fought with less personal passion and more passion for the common good. (Applause.)

"I am not interested in fighting persons, but I am interested in fighting bad tendencies, bad systems, things that lower all the levels of our political and economic morality; and I could wish that these things were visible and tangible, so we did not have to fight them through persons. I wish they were of such a sort that you had only to hold them up to let the whole nation see how ugly they are and how undesirable. For we must get this vision before we are through with our politics, the same vision that the soldier gets, that it does not make any difference what part of the country he comes from, it does not make any difference what rank he is the point is that there is something that binds him to his fellows which he cannot break without committing treason. The thing he cannot break is the bond of common sympathy and of common understanding that he is engaged in a cause and that only the cause can make him great.

"I wonder that men sometimes miss the whole lesson of greatness. A man borrows greatness; he does not pass it. A man borrows greatness from the trust of his fellow-citizens. He borrows greatness from his comprehension of and identification with a great cause and principle. He is as big as the thoughts and the impulses that he has received from the common life of the people about him and all his greatness is thus borrowed from the great, candid stock of human race. He is not worthy of confidence unless he years ago entitled 'Christmas' its unfinished business, and the theme of the essay was that peace would supplant war just so soon as peace became as handsome as war. He called attention to the significant circumstances that you never go into a household and see a yardstick or a spade or any symbol or implement of peace hung up over the mantelpiece to symbolize the service of some son of the household, but that very often you see hanging there a sword or a musket, and the reason is that the sword and the musket were used for somebody else and not for the man who wielded them.

"There are many selfish interests served by war. There are many ugly ambitions that bring on war. There have been wars that have disgraced humanity because the blood spilled was not spilled in any righteous cause, but the rank and file of the soldiery did not share in the disgrace because they bore arms as those who served a command which they dare not question and who have absolutely nothing to gain and everything to lose.

"If a man offers his life for a thing, that does not bring him profit, shall we not say that he is distinguished among his fellows? Now, when men spend their lives in peace not merely for their own private profit, but as the conscious servants of a great nation, there will be no more war and peace will be as distinguished as war. Then we will hang up the symbols of peace in our households and say 'Our son saved humanity.'

"The reason the Spanish war bound the nation together was that men were bound together in a unselfish thing bound together in an unselfish thing together in a common service, and so it is with peculiar pleasure that I think of this comparatively bloodless war. This war which drew us into singleness of purpose without shedding too much of the precious blood of our sons and our brothers and our fathers."

Wilson on Price of Meat.

We are told that meat is high in this country because of the limitation of supply. I am informed that there is a larger per capita supply of cattle in requires special nourishment of easy assimilation.

Scott's Emulsion

contains these vital properties in concentrated form and distributes them all over the body without taxing the digestion.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 12-12

This country now than there was a few years ago, and while prices of meats in this country have risen from 30 to 40 per cent. they have absolutely stood still in England, which doesn't produce enough cattle for her people to eat.

"Practically all the cattle that supplies England with meat have to be brought from the United States or the Argentine Republic, or from some other very distant part of the world, and after they have paid the ocean freights you can buy meat in London 30 to 40 per cent. cheaper than you can buy it in New York, and the price of meat has not risen a quarter of a cent in London in ten years, and it has risen here between 30 and 40 per cent. in ten years.

"Are we going to keep on fooling ourselves forever? Don't you know that there is a market on these things; these men don't have to adjust the prices of the United States to the prices of the world? What I am fighting for, therefore, in this as in everything else is liberty. I want these men to take their grip off of American industry. I want to have it set free. I want to have it set free to make the markets of the world as it will."

"Look back over the history of labor, of labor in this country. What has enabled the captains of industry to create the great combinations by which labor has been dominated and the conditions of every man's life who works determined? It has been the tariff. It has been the fact that they had the domestic market to themselves and could make what arrangements they pleased. But all the while there has been free trade in labor itself.

"There are school houses all over the land which are not used by the teachers and children in the summer months which are not used in the winter time in the evenings for school purposes. These buildings belong to the public. Why not insist everywhere that they be used as places of discussion, like the old town meetings to which everybody went and where every public officer was freely called to account and made to hear criticism to the uttermost? Keep the air clear with constant discussion. Make every public servant feel that he is acting in the open and under scrutiny, and above all things also take these great fundamental questions of your lives with which political platforms concern themselves and search them through and through by every process of debate. Then we shall have a clear air in which we shall see our way to every kind of social betterment.

Berry's School Record.

When William H. Berry was State Treasurer before, he astonished the school boards of the State by paying the school appropriations promptly. The schools open about the first of September, and the old custom was to begin paying school warrants about the time that the teachers' salaries were due, a month after the opening. Mr. Berry wisely reasoned that there were a lot of expenses to meet preliminary to the opening. Repairs have to be made, sanitary improvements attended to, and other things looked after that involve labor and wages. Berry took these things into consideration and hastened the funds to the destination. His successor showed an inclination to drop back into the old rut, but the newspapers protested and he got busy. The present treasurer probably imagined that the public mind was focussed on other matters and wouldn't notice. Instead of issuing the warrants as rapidly as possible, beginning on the first of June, he didn't act until about the first of September; consequently, the mechanics and others who made the repairs had to wait three months for their money.

It would probably be unjust to say that the Republican leaders are opposed to the public schools, though, as a matter of fact, they have always reluctantly increased the school appropriations, and every Republican Governor within the last dozen years has cut the amount appropriated with a veto ax, more or less. But there is another, though somewhat sinister, reason for withholding payment of the school appropriations. The legal interest on State funds held by banks is two per cent. Money is "easy" to the banks at twice that rate of interest when there is assurance of ample notice before withdrawal. The difference between two and four per cent., upon a matter of $2,000,000, makes an appreciable campaign fund, and the favored bankers who get the deposits are always willing to "come over." Thus the delay of the payment from June to September is worth while, and the campaign committees invariably need the money and seldom stop to look for signs of taint. Of course, this is hard on the schools, but the schools are disposing of a good many superfluous things that have helped the Republican Machine anyway.

Road Experiments.

Experiments are under way by the State Highway Department in a dozen counties of the state to determine the best methods of road construction, so that when the Commonwealth begins its general road building under the $50,000,000, which it is expected will be voted by the people next year, Pennsylvania will not only obtain the best roads but those best suited to the locality in which they are to be built. This experimental work has been in progress for more than a year, and reports upon traffic and the manner in which the various roads are standing up are made every few days.

In selecting the locations for experimental purposes the department picked out typical rural, manufacturing, automobile travel and suburban roads, and material was used which was believed to possess qualities when laid that would best resist the wear and tear peculiar to each. In some of the farming communities road compositions have been used which will enable good time to be made by ordinary narrow-gauge market wagons and at the same time be easier on the horses' hoofs than the harder roads laid down in industrial sections where teaming is heavy. For roads much frequented by automobiles the State has been trying construction of a character which would resist the suction due to large rubber tires. In suburban communities the aim has been to promote easy communication from farming districts and for store deliveries.

On all experiments careful attention has been paid to the extent and cost of repairs and efforts made to find a method to reduce dust to a minimum. The end of the year will see the State supplied with the most complete data possible on the subject. Many farmers, team owners and automobilists have assisted in the work by sending notes on their observations of the roads to the State Highway Department.

The general interest in road construction is growing every week throughout the countryside, and is believed among the strongest supporters of the proposed measure will be farmers, who realize the advantages, in the way of better means to reach market towns or electric lines carrying produce, that will follow in the train of a general system of first-class state highways.

Adams Co. Poultry Asso. Organized.

There was a well attended meeting at Thomas Bros. Hall, Biglerville, on Monday night, Sept. 24, of poultrymen, a permanent organization effected and the following officers chosen: G. Strong, Pres.; Emery Plank, 1st V. Pres.; D. A. Washington, 2d V. Pres.; Robert Elion, 3d V. Pres.; O. C. Rice, Sec.; J. Hoke Slaybaugh, Asst. Sec.; E. D. Heighes, Treas.; Directors, Fred McCammon, Chas. Wolfe, D. C. Jacobs, Edw. Stallsmith, J. Blaine Bushley, Chas. Raffensperger.

Much interest was shown and many questions relating to the Adams County Poultry Exhibit to be held Jan. 6, 7 and 8 in Biglerville, were discussed. The members are in earnest and intend to make the regular meetings, for instruction, exchange of ideas and interesting. The next meeting will be held the first Monday evening of Oct. at which time Emery H. Plank, the 1st V. Pres., will read a paper on "The Proper Care and Feeding of the Laying Hen," and a general discussion will then follow. All persons interested in "Biddies" welfare are invited to attend and a special invitation is extended to ladies. There are many ladies actively interested in poultry raising in our county and they are urged to attend the meetings and join the association. Their presence and votes are much desired.

There is much good work to be done by the organization.

1. The monthly meetings are to be made mutually profitable to all by a discussion of all questions by practical and successful poultry raisers. The services of professional lecturers will also be had.

2. It will promote and carry out an annual poultry show.

3. It will establish a permanent exhibit of all varieties of appliances and machinery used by poultrymen.

4. It will urge some needed legislation of permanent benefit to the industry such as are in force in other states.

5. The members of the association will be enabled to buy poultry foods and all supplies at wholesale prices.

6. A fund will be created and a deposit made in bank as a standing reward offered against chicken thieves.

The poultry industry of Adams county is one of her leading industries to-day and much good can be effected if all persons interested will join the association early and lend their influence and presence. Upon inquiry the secretary will furnish a blank to sign and return with $1.00 for which you will become a member and get "The Poultry Items" for one year, the best poultry paper published.

Unrecognized Brother.

A stranger called at the home of Mrs. J. Willis Smith, near York Springs, recently and asked for a drink of water. He then asked Mrs. Smith if he could purchase some dinner and she replied that she was not running a hotel. He began to laugh and told her she was very inopportune to refuse him something to eat. Explanations followed when Jacob Shriver, of Mt. Holly, came around the corner of the house and told Mrs. Smith that the stranger was her brother, Abel Warner, who had gone West from Mooredale, Cumberland county forty-one years ago.

Mr. Warner is a prominent contractor and builder at Indianapolis, Ind., and this is his first visit East in that time. As Mrs. Smith was only nine years old when her brother left home she was perfectly excusable for not recognizing him after such a long absence.

450,000 $1 Day Pensioners.

The number of government pensioners under the new Sherwood law for the relief of Civil War veterans will be nearly 450,000, according to figures announced last week. To date 138,850 applications for pensions have been received since the law went into effect on May 11. The average pension under the act amounts to about $100 a year.

The Blond Giant

It is Not Safe to Jump at Conclusions

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Mark Ellsworth bought a magazine of the train boy and settled comfortably back in his seat. The book opened of itself at one of Eunice Ward's charming little love stories, and Mark scanned the columns eagerly for the paragraph that introduced the inevitable man in the case. He was vexed with himself even as his eyes fell upon the offending paragraph.

As usual in Eunice's latest stories the hero was everything to be admired—manly, lovable and big and blond and handsome.

Mark slapped the pages together and cast the magazine from him, staring moodily at the fleeting scenery. He was rather below the medium height, dark and pale and square jawed and very American. Quite the opposite of Eunice Ward's ideal as depicted in her stories. Of course the big fresh faced English type must be the sort of men Eunice admired, for her heroes were, all of that description.

The train drew to a stop before a little terra cotta station, and Mark gathered up his traps and hastened out into the October sunshine.

He had cherished a vague hope that Eunice might be there to meet him—once in the earlier stages of their acquaintance she had come for him—but no, Mrs. Raymond, his hostess, sat alone in the motor smiling a warm welcome.

"Eunice was coming, too," she said as they sped along the oiled road toward Windymere, "but at the last moment Mr. Punderson reminded her of a promised walk, so she went with him."

"Who is Mr. Punderson?" asked Mark grimly. "Not Percy Ranier Punderson, the poet chap?"

"Yes; and you will like him so much," returned Mrs. Raymond enthusiastically, her dark eyes flashing one glance at his stern profile.

"No doubt," said Mark dryly. "He's an Englishman, isn't he?"

"Oh, yes."

"Big and blond and something of a giant?" There was an unconscious note of anxiety in his deep voice.

"Why, yes—in a way," laughed Mrs. Raymond, as she gave him her hand alighting. "I didn't know you men noticed each other's looks much."

"We don't as a rule," returned Mark deliberately, "but we observe and admire poets as we do women, you know."

"You will like Mr. Punderson," predicted Mrs. Raymond, as she directed him to his room.

Mark Ellsworth was sure that he must detest Punderson the poet. As he dressed for dinner his fine forehead was creased with a dark frown as he went over the months of his acquaintance with Eunice Ward. He had been a bosom friend of Dick Raymond's before that gentleman's marriage and since then had been a frequent guest at Windymere. Eunice was Mrs. Raymond's cousin, and it was at Windymere that Mark had met and fallen in love with her among the winding paths of that most fascinating of homes.

The presence of Percy Ranier Punderson at Windymere was significant. Mark had heard of him as a dreamy, soulful individual, and he could not associate Mrs. Raymond's description of the Englishman with the drooping, anemic poet his imagination had conjured.

Eunice gave him a cool little hand and a fleeting glimpse of sea blue eyes that were hidden at once by thickly fringed white lids.

"We had about given you up," she said reproachfully. "You've promised to come down every Saturday for the past month and now, the first week in October, our expectations are at last realized!" The mock regret in her tone quite hid something that Mark was too miserable to recognize.

"I've been very busy," he said absently, "and in town the weeks do slip away. You have not been dull?" His eyes involuntarily turned toward Punderson's broad back.

"Not at all," he cried hastily. "Mr. Punderson is quite as ardent a pedagogue as I am, and together we have tramped over every road in Mereton, coming home with the most appalling appetites."

"I hope you will walk with me," said Mark, speaking more wistfully than he knew.

"Of course," she replied quickly. "I know the loveliest place in the country side. We will start tomorrow morning while the others are at church."

The prospect of having Eunice all to himself for several hours put Mark in the best of spirits and during the course of the evening he came to like the big blond giant who seemed a living representation of the heroes who inched through the pages of Eunice's stories.

As they struck into a long amber lighted wood road the next day Mark turned and looked at Eunice, she stepping easily beside him. She wore a simple walking skirt of white serge and a white knitted coat, with a white felt hat perched on her golden hair. She looked very young and very fair, but he thought her voice lacked its usual buoyancy. Then it occurred to him that Eunice might care for Punderson.

Gerson and the poet might be merely whiling away a pleasant fortnight amid congenial companions. Suppose Punderson was trifling with Eunice's love and she—eased—eased!

"Why do you look so very fierce?" she laughed suddenly.

"I was thinking," he said, somewhat lamely.

"And disagreeable as the thoughts must be judging from your frown you will not sell them for pennies?" She jingled some coins in a tiny pocket of her jacket.

"I was thinking what I'd do to the man who ever caused you one heart-ache!" he burst out passionately.

She paused and faced him with a blank look in her eyes. "Why—why do you say such a thing?" she asked with an effort.

"Because—oh, Eunice, because I love you. You needn't turn away. Of course I know it is of no use—I'm not the sort to attract you—but it relieves my mind to tell you," he ended bitterly. He did not look at her face; his eyes were fixed on the dead leaves on the ground under their feet.

"How do you know that it is of no use?" she said quietly, and as he looked up, startled, her eyes dropped.

"Eunice!" His hands went out and were withdrawn, clinched, to his sides. "Oh, of course I know I'm not the type you admire—one has only to read your stories to recognize that, Eunice. But, Eunice, if you ever need me I'll fight for you until the last!"

"I need you now, Mark," she said almost inaudibly.

"Ah!" His hands clasped hers this time, and he looked at her eagerly. "Who is it, Eunice? You needn't be afraid to tell me," he urged.

The fringes lifted, and in another instant he would have glimpsed a heaven in their depths, but then there came an interruption. Firm footsteps trod the crisp leaves, and there came into view the massive form of Percy Ranier Punderson. His hands were stuffed in his pockets, and his fair hair was rumpled and tossed out of its usual order. He stopped short at sight of the two, and as his glance fell on Eunice's lovely, animated countenance a light came into his eyes.

"Ah! I thought I had the woods to myself," he stammered awkwardly.

"I thought you had gone to church with Dora and Dick," observed Eunice, recovering her composure. "I was taking Mr. Ellsworth over to the ruined chapel. Won't you join us?"

"Thank you; no. I was about to turn back. We started for church, but the motor broke down at the cross-roads. The Grenvilles came along and offered seats for two, and, as I was out of humor for church, I walked back."

"He made as if to retrace his steps, but Eunice's carelessly put question checked him.

"Who was with Alice Grenville?" she asked.

"Why—er—Tommy Lapham, I believe, and—er—her father was driving the machine. I'm afraid you'll be late for luncheon if I detain you any longer," he said, and with a nod of farewell that included Mark, leaning against a nearby tree, Mr. Punderson tramped back over the fallen leaves and was soon out of sight.

"Shall we go on?" asked Eunice.

Their walk was resumed in a silence that was not broken by any reference to their interrupted conversation. A grimace had settled around Mark's lips, and his chin looked more square than ever. Eunice's fair brow was puckered in a frown, and there was a troubled look in her eyes.

When Mark did open his lips once more it was to speak of the brilliant autumn coloring or the scampering gray squirrels that crossed their path. At last they emerged upon a cleared space crowning a high bluff that jutted into the sea. Here were the charred and crumbled ruins of a once beautiful stone chapel.

Mark removed his hat and drew a deep breath of the sweet pure air. "Windymere is beautiful, but if I had my choice I'd build a home right here on this headland," he said thoughtfully.

"There is a good road that leads into the highway," observed Eunice quietly as she seated herself on the stone steps of the ruined edifice. "I have bought this land, Mark. Don't you think it will make a beautiful home for me?" She was looking at him through drooping lashes.

"Yes," he returned dully, staring away at the glistening waves. He was thinking of the ideal life Eunice would lead with her poetic husband if she married Punderson. And he was sure that she cared for the Englishman.

"I want to tell you something about Mr. Punderson," went on Eunice. "I am sure you will understand that it is entirely confidential."

"Yes," he repeated grimly.

"Well, Mr. Punderson is very much in love with Alice Grenville, and she is flirting outrageously with every man she meets. Just at present it is Tommy Lapham, whom no one takes seriously, yet poor Mr. Punderson is absurdly jealous. If he understood we men he might see that Alice is in love with him and that she is afraid of everybody else."

"A week back when I was in her clothes, and her blue eyes were quite hidden."

Mark laughed out. "It is his dark eyes," Eunice said honestly, "and all women like that do try to hide their face from the man who loves them."

"Not all, Mark," she said in a tone between tears and laughter, "but those of us who are not sure, when we give our love first, we—must dissemble, such as describing our hero as a blond giant when as a matter of fact—Oh, Mark!" as he took her in his arms.

"When as a matter of fact—" he repeated, laughing down into her eyes.

"He is like you," she whispered, her lips against his.

TWENTY YEARS

Makes a great difference in most women. They are troubled with "nerves"—they suffer from backache, headache, sleeplessness, a sensation of irritability or twitching, hot flashes, dizzy spells, or many other symptoms of female weakness. The local disorder and inflammation should be treated with Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets and the irregularity and weakness of the female system corrected and strengthened with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The strain upon the young woman or the woman of middle age—upon the nerve and blood forming structures—may be too great for her strength. This is the time to take this restorative tonic and strength-giving nerve and regulator. For over forty years sold by druggists for woman's peculiar weaknesses and distressing ailments. The one remedy so perfect in composition and so good in curative effects as to warrant its makers in printing its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. The one remedy which absolutely contains neither alcohol nor injurious or habit-forming drugs.

Following letter selected at random from a large number of similar ones and cited merely to illustrate these remarks:

"In the winter of 1906, I became greatly run down and irregular. I write Mrs. Henry Scott, of Swan Creek, Mich., Route 1, Box 48. I slowly but surely grew worse, and, at last, resolved to apply to the doctors for help. The doctor said I had inflammation, enlargement and laceration. I was in bed eleven weeks and got no better. The doctor said I would have to have an operation, but to I would not listen. My husband purchased two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When I started to take this remedy I could not walk across the floor, but after I had taken three bottles I could feel myself gaining, so I dropped the doctor and took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Only for it I think I would have been dead—I really believe it saved my life. I feel better now than in twenty years."

Mrs. Scott.

AS YOU FEAR CANCER

TUMOR GROWTH BUNCHES you will be glad to know of the successful non-surgical system of treatment. No knife, x-ray, radium or serum.

"I am a clergyman and G. A. R. veteran. I thank God that I went soon to the Binghamton Cancerium and Sanatorium. I had 3 cancers on cheek and lip, one of 5 years duration. Other cancer doctors failed. My face is well. Scars hardly noticeable. A wonder, full cure without knife or loss of blood under Dr. S. Andral Kilmer's De-Cancerizing system. My age was 67. I saw ladies being treated for cancers as large as saucers, who went away rejoicing. Send for Dr. S. Andral Kilmer's Red Book and see my picture and report. Gratitude and a desire to be of benefit to sufferers, impelled me to state this for the public good."

PUBLIC SPIRITED CITIZEN

PHILIP L. HOUCK MEETS WITH SUDDEN DEATH.

Heart Disease Quickly Ends Life of a Good Man Who Loved His Fellowmen.

LIEUTENANT PHILIP L. HOUCK died on Saturday morning from heart disease, aged 76 years, 11 months and 15 days. He was seized with pain at the heart at the meeting in St. James' Lutheran Church on last Tuesday evening and was carried to his home on York street and fears were entertained that he would not recover. He seemed to grow better and on Saturday morning seemed to have almost fully recovered when he was again seized with an attack and expired. He had been suffering for some months from the trouble.

In proportion to his means there is no question that Mr. Houck was Gettysburg's most public spirited citizen, giving to every cause that meant the uplift of his town. He had been one of the most generous givers at the dedication of St. James on Sunday, Sept. 15. He had given $550 when the first canvass had been made and went to the church on Sunday prepared to give a liberal donation. His good wife slipped a note to him asking whether they could not give $700 and he immediately made the gift of that sum and in the evening in memory of the children they had raised added $200 more. He had given to Pennsylvania College when the town was recently canvassed. He gave unselfishly and without any ostentation.

On last Tuesday he visited the Committee office and the subject of giving at the dedication of St. James was touched upon and the need of education of this, and every, community to realize that the philosophy of giving is that the only thing a man has is what he gives away and Mr. Houck said with great feeling that he often reviewed his life and felt that the great things in his life were what he had given away; those were the things that brought him joy, comfort and good feeling. He brought to this office a white ribbon, in the center of which he had us print the words "China for Christ," and at the ends "St. James Woman's Missionary Society," and he said his purpose was to tie the ribbon about a testament he had carried through the Civil War, which was stained with his own blood and he desired that it be preserved as a memorial by the Society. He further told that the Lutheran Church had no missionary in China and that he had been deeply interested in that country all his life and with the establishment of a republic that nation was one of the most helpful to whom to carry civilization and Christianity and he had agreed to provide the interest of $2500 to help to support a missionary in China. His generosity was signally displayed in another way. Mr. and Mrs. Houck without children of their own have been father and mother to twelve children whom they took to raise and to whom were given the influences of a good home, and who were carefully trained in all the principles of manhood and womanhood of their foster parents. At one time six of these children were living with Mr. and Mrs. Houck and of the twelve, ten are living to-day to appreciate the blessing of love and devotion the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Houck had been to them.

Philip L. Houck was born in Butler township on October 6, 1835, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Houck. On June 25, 1865 he was married to Miss Kate Grop. Soon after their marriage they moved to Huntington township where he engaged in farming. Later buying the Christian Banner farm east of this town in Straban township they removed there, following farming and engaging in the dairy business. Several years ago they moved to Gettysburg and last year bought the Andrew Schick property on York street and remodeling it, made it almost a new house. Mr. Houck was a veteran of the Civil War, enlisting in the early part of the war and serving until wounded, and upon recovery from wound re-enlisted, and at end of the war was mustered out as a second lieutenant. He was a member of Company Skelly Post No. 9, G. A. R. and was as earnest an advocate of peace as he had been a soldier in war. During the recent discussion of a Lincoln Way he had enthusiastically supported the project and wrote to Washington last winter suggesting that at Mason and Dixon's line along the road there should be erected an arch surmounted with figures of Grant and Lee in the act of shaking hands. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, services at his home by his pastor, Rev. J. B. Baker, and interment in Soldiers' National Cemetery. He is survived by his devoted wife, ten of the twelve children to whom he had been a father, and two sisters, Mrs. Daniel Markley of York Springs, and Mrs. John Zinn of East Middle street, this place.

WM. M. ECKENRODE of York, whose death was briefly noted in our last issue as occurring on Sunday, Sept. 15, was a native of Adams county, a son of Alonius Eckenrode, and was born near New Oxford. In early life he taught in the public schools of Mt. Pleasant township. Some time later he became an apprentice at the printing, trade in the office of the "Gettysburg Compiler," where he remained for a period of three years. He later accepted a position on the "Congressional Globe," of Washington. After leaving the printing trade he went into the insurance business, following for 36 years in York, representing the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia as general agent in York and Adams counties since 1882. He was married in 1882 to Miss Catherine E. Klunk youngest daughter of ex-Sheriff Jacob Klunk of this county. He was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church of York, of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, and was treasurer of the Holy Name Society. He served the York City School Board for some years. The funeral was last Wednesday, Father McGrath of St. Patrick's being assisted by Rev. Jas. Spelding of Carrollstown, a nephew.

Rev. John Eckenrode of Washington, D. C., a cousin and Rev. John Eckenrode of Hagerstown, a cousin. Surviving are his wife and the following children: David M., Mary G., Pauline C., Marguerite T., William M., Jr., and Catherine R. Eckenrode, all of York. Surviving also are two brothers, Dr. Charles E. Eckenrode of Gettysburg, John W. Eckenrode of Lancaster, and two sisters Mrs. Mary Rindlaub of York Springs, and Mrs. Joseph A. Goulden of York.

Augustus King died in York on Sunday, August 15, aged 76 years. The funeral was held last Wednesday. He was 35 years. He had a leg broken in the survived by his wife, one daughter, Miss Ida E. King, at home; four sons, Charles P. King and George M. King of York, Emanuel E. King of Fairfield, and the Rev. C. B. King of Pittsburg; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Mumper of Dillsburg, and Mrs. Albert Myers of Gettysburg. Mr. King was a Civil War veteran and was buried with military honors.

BOURNE STACH of Ridgely, W. Va., formerly of New Oxford, was seriously injured in a wreck on the W. M. R. R. on Monday, Sept. 16, and died the same day from the injuries aged about 35 years. He had a leg broken in the accident and was crushed in a frightful way. He was fireman on the wrecked train. He was taken to Hagerstown hospital where he died. He is survived by a brother, J. V. Staub of near New Oxford.

MRS. MAGGIE OSBORNE MILLAR, wife of P. Emory Millar, died at her home near New Chester on Monday of last of Frank D. Buttorff, aged 57 years, died last Wednesday in York. Death was due to a progressive nervous disease from which she suffered the past five months. She is survived by two sons, John Buttorff and W. Roy Buttorff, both of York; two brothers, Ca-let and Edwards Sheets, both of York, and the following sisters: Mrs. Elizabeth Deteer, of East Berlin, Mrs. Jas. Shannon of Mt. Holly Springs, Cumberland county, Mrs. Amanda Riddle of York Springs. The funeral was held last Saturday, interment in Greenmount cemetery.

JACOB A. KENNEDY died at his home near Helges' Woolen Mills in Huntington township, Tuesday of last week, aged 73 years, 10 months and 25 days. The funeral was on Friday, services at the house, interment at Sunnyside cemetery, York Springs. He leaves his wife, and two sons, William and Clinton of Huntington township, and one brother and sister, Samuel Kennedy of Tyrone, and Mrs. David Lookingbill of Harrisburg.

MISS ESTHER ZACHARIAS, a former resident of Emmitsburg, died on Sept. 15, in Chambersburg, after an illness of about ten days. Her remains were taken to Emmitsburg for burial in Mountain View cemetery. She is survived by two brothers, C. T. Zacharias of Emmitsburg, and William of Chambersburg; and two sisters, Mrs. James Trovett of near Emmitsburg and Miss Adelaide, of Chambersburg.

On Wednesday, Sept. 25, Our SEPTEMBER SALE OF NEW AND USED PIANOS OPENS THIS SALE WILL RUN FOR 30 DAYS

OUR PURPOSE in running this sale is on account of not being able to get out to see the people, and we mean to make the prices such that it will justify the people to come in the store and buy a Piano, giving them the benefit of the cost of hauling the pianos around hunting for a buyer.

Have Ordered Car Load

Of Pianos for this sale, which further enables me to cut in prices on account of freight and cut in prices for car load lots. It would be unwise for you to purchase a Piano without coming here to see and hear the Pianos offered at this Exhibition and Sale. Don't let this opportunity slip, for it means a saving of from $75 to $100 on every Piano, if you have the remotest idea of buying a Piano. $10 to $15 in cash is all it costs you down to have any of these beautiful bargains delivered to your home; $6 to $15 per month keeps it there. I will give you a few of the prices, which are extremely low for the quality of the Pianos:

Many customers buy and sell only through us. They know that we earn our commission.

RUNK & PECKMAN

REAL ESTATE OFFICE MASONIC BUILDING GETTYSBURG, PENNA.

ly They are made for the purpose of embarrassing Mr. Brodbeck. That no true Democrat is responsible for them and that they are made for the deliberate purpose of helping the opposition candidate is clear as daylight. For the reason that any Democrat would have presented his charges to the jury of the Democratic people at the primaries, he would have presented his proof at that time so that the Democratic people could pass upon it then. It was in his power to have made the charges then as now. They are no new thing, but instead of going before the people before the primary with them he holds them until now when he uses them for purpose of defeating the Democratic nominee.

Any one guilty of injuring the Democratic party in such a way in a Democratic year when a Democratic Congressman is needed in a Democratic district to support a Democratic president is no Democrat. If he has ever been he is now a traitor to his party and his charges are old trash deserving to be treated by the Democratic nominee with silent contempt.

The Democratic voters should not permit themselves to be misled by this racket for the help of the opposition. If Democratic liberal progressiveness is to win it is the duty of every Democrat not only to vote for Wilson but for Brodbeck, so later may support Wilson and his party in Congress.

FIGHT FOR CONGRESS.

Robert C. Bair has accepted the nomination of the Washington or Bull Moose party for Congress. The performance of Mr. Bair at Huntestown should certainly eliminate him from serious consideration. Surely the calm judgment of his party must conclude that any man who declares that he approaches the subject reverently but the killing of McKinley was an act of Providence to give the country Roosevelt and that is would not be safe to trust such a man with their votes.

The only hope of the present situation in the nation is the election of Woodrow Wilson and from every corner of the country come assurance of his election. He will need a Congress in full sympathy with him and the people of this district should realize that it is just as important to give this congressional district to Wilson as to vote for Wilson for President.

Wilson and the Democratic candidate for Congress stand for the regulation or competition so as to relieve the country of the wrongs committed by monopoly and trust. They stand for the revision of the tariff downward. They stand for the reduction of the cost of living, for progress, for equality of opportunity. On the other hand Taft and the Republican congressional candidate represent standstillism, a high protective tariff, with high cost of living and special privilege. The people of this district should go firmly toward the light, Wilson and a Democratic Congress to make it possible for Wilson to give the country what he stands for.

AS TO D. B. A.

It looked easy for D—Bad Article Altman to guess when accused of political dishonesty that the only word appropriate for the dash after the D was damned. There are a few other words beginning with a D—, debasing, debauching, defiling, defaming, etc. Perhaps however it does not matter what we may have had in mind, as he has fit damned upon himself. And why should he not fit this word upon himself when accused of pursuing a course deserving condemnation as being destructive of political decency and honesty. He fled to the tall timber of silence as is his habit and from the timber comes a yelping to distract attention from himself. The animus of the man is apparent. The "Star" asserts that the man is politically dishonest, why the "Star" said last week "Dave is mad and I am glad but I know what will please him: a candidate's whine to make him shine and a bunch of money to grease him." To all this he is mum but when the Compiler repeats what the "Star" said he grows even madder as to himself while at the same time vomiting bile in the gutter at the Compiler. Yielding insinuations and intimidations in the timber is all humbug. When a being yelps if you don't let me alone I'll tell on you, you can depend upon it that the only thing he can tell is manufactured lies and they damage only he who forces them and not the one aimed at.

But what has all this to do with the question whether D. B. A. is politically dishonest or not? Perhaps it is expecting too much to ask him to admit his political dishonesty. Perhaps the question could be put in more concrete form by way of illustration. Four years ago D. B. A. was displaying his support of the Democratic candidate for sheriff because he was of his own home town. Did he at the same time propose to the Republican candidate that for $200 he would turn down his own town man and support the Republican nominee? Was he willing to play a traitor to a citizen of his own town for money? Did he do that? The candidate who was asked to put up the $200 says he did. Did D. B. A. ask a certain Democratic candidate last fall for $200 for the support of his paper and when it was not forthcoming did he not assail this candidate and his friends in his paper? Is D. B. A. and his paper for sale politically to the high bidder? Is he and his paper controlled by the high bidder? That is the question he has not met. If this is so it is time for the people of Adams county to know the man and his methods and knowing realize that any paper selling its support and influence is without influence.

Successful Farming

According to the Government Census, twenty-three states in the Union report vegetable products valued annually at over $1,000,000 each.

The force that has revolutionized farming, that has made the waste places blossom as the rose, that has given such astounding figures to vegetables, exclusive of other farm products, is the farm telephone.

The telephone is the farmer's "stock ticker." It tells him the movements of the market and the proper time to sell.

There should be a Farm Line in your locality and you should be connected to it. Write nearest Bell Office for the free booklet: "What Uncle Sam Says About the Rural Telephone."

W. C. T. U. Convention.

The 27th annual convention of the W. C. T. U. met in New Oxford, Sept. 14, 1912 in Methodist church. The Vice Pres. Mrs. Keith of Gettysburg presided, Miss Heiges of Biglerville as Sec.

Much inspiration came with the roll call of county officers and delegates, to have so many respond in scripture texts, bearing on temperance or purity. Many delegates and friends of temperance were present from Gettysburg, Biglerville, Arendtsville, Abbotstown and York Springs. After the appointment of committees, words of welcome, Mrs. Harry Swartz of New Oxford, response, Mrs. Honck of Gettysburg: "Responsibility for saloons under the existing laws" was most emphatically handled by Rev. L. Dow Ott of Gettysburg. He did not hesitate to tell the real facts and hopes the public can read his paper through the press in the near future. The Rally Cry was then given—

"White Ribbon! White Ribbon!"

"White Ribbon! For All!"

The Memorial service and Nointide Prayer were conducted by Mrs. Swartz. In the afternoon Miss Ruth Elmes rendered in a heart felt away solo, "Mourning for the Thousands Slain." The "Ribbon Talk" by Mrs. Kuhnman of Gettysburg was entertaining and very instructive, showing the great amount of money spent on the Liquor Traffic and Cigarette curse. Mrs. E. Belle Weidner of Arendtsville, County Supt. of Loyal Temperance Legion Work, told us of the work done along her line. Seven graduates of Senior L. T. L. of above place were present, giving the State Rally Cry and singing the County song, making much impression on those present; in connection with the above work, Miss Myrtle Watkins recited a very excellent, appropriate poem. "The young people will be 'the people' and will be an immense quantity in the undermuling of sin. Precept upon precept has been the watchword from the beginning, and the blossom is now and will be the fruit when recorded at the ballot box." There are 35000 Temperance Light Bearers in Penna. (Children who are dedicated to temperance by their parents. "A little child shall lead them.") A most fine paper on "Some things that lead to Intemperance" was read by Alice Grief.

With the 26574 White Ribbons in Penna and 251 in Adams Co. still increasing (last year a gain of 852 members) on Temperance Organization, on churches, on temperance friends, we are bound to wipe out the awful curse "Now in the morning thy seed."

And in the eve withhold not thy hand."

The next convention will be held at York Springs.

Addition to Littlestown.

Land owned by Hon. S. S. Mehrling, lying along the Hanover turnpike, commencing at the borough line of Littlestown and extending about 1000 feet east, will be plotted and made into choice building lots. This tract has long been desired by home builders, as it represents one of the finest tracts in or around Littlestown.

Mr. Mehrling has secured the services of R. O. Wirt of Hanover, to take entire charge of the development of this property and work will start at once. Streets and alleys will be laid out and graded, a concrete curb will extend along the entire front with a grass plot of six feet between that and a four-foot concrete pavement.

Mr. Wirt has had several years' experience in just this particular line of work and after all the improvements are completed, "Mehrling Addition to Littlestown" will be the best developed addition in this section of the State.

A Novel Introduction.

The Dr. Howard Company have entered into an agreement with L. M. Buchler's drug store, by which a special introductory offer will be made of 25 cents on the 50 cent size of their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia.

Headaches, coated tongue, dizziness, gas on the stomach, specks before the eyes, constipation and all forms of malaria and liver trouble are soon cured by this scientific medicine.

L. M. Buchler has been able to secure only a limited supply, so everyone who wishes to be cured of dyspepsia or constipation should call upon him at once or send him 25 cents by mail, and get 60 doses of the best medicine ever made, on this special half price introductory offer, with his personal guarantee to refund the money if the specific does not cure.

Mrs. CALLOX BOSSERMAN of Reading was operated upon for appendicitis. The operation was performed at her home by Drs. Bacon, King and Melchior of York, and Dr. Lau of East Berlin.

Harry Dizin who has been visiting relatives in Hanover and Abbotstown, has returned to his home in Los Angeles, Cal., accompanied by his sister Miss Carrie of Hanover.

Browning.

Browning had completed a whole volume of verse by the time he was twelve, but his modest artistic effort was a poem of a cottage and rocks, which he pointed at the age of two in lead pencil and black ink on a jam tin.

Plenty of Reason.

"I don't see why that time haunts me constantly," complained a dull man who was always blundering.

"Because you are forever murdering it!" came the quick reply from Foote.

Ignorance is a blank sheet on which we may write, but error is a scribble from which we must erase.

If you know of the real value of Chamberlain's Liniment for lame back, soreness of the muscles, sprains and rheumatic pains, you would never be without it. For sale by all dealers.

Mrs. FRANK L. WEAVER and young child of New Oxford were attending services at church. The child became restless and Mrs. Weaver carried it out to the home of a friend. While she was standing on the porch holding the child she was seized with a nervous attack and fell to the pavement. Both mother and child were badly bruised.

A healthy man is a king in his own right; an unhealthy man an unhappy slave. For impure blood and sluggish liver, use Burdock Blood Bitters. On the market 35 years. $1.00 a bottle.

The surveyors are at work getting everything in shape for the construction of the trolley line between Conowingo Chapel and New Oxford.

Best Treatment for a Burns.

If for no other reason, Chamberlain's Salve should be kept in every household on account of its great value in the treatment of burns. It allays the pain almost instantly, and unless the injury is a severe one heals the parts without leaving a scar. This salve is also unequalled for chapped hands, sore nipples and diseases of the skin. Price 25 cents. For sale by The People's Drug Store.

PAUL HARTMAN has sold his residence in Littlestown to George S. Kump. Mr. Hartman will move to Honeybrook where he will be cashier in a bank.

TAXING COAT OFF

POORMAN'S BACK

Concrete Illustrations of What

Protective Tariff Really Means.

CAUSE WORKERS TO THINK.

Iniquities of the Payne-Aldrich Act
Taft's "Best Law Ever," Strikingly Told in Figures.

Concrete examples of how a protective tariff operates are causing the workman, the "poor man," to do a lot of thinking nowadays. He is beginning to understand whether it is not about time to call a halt on the Republican practice of taxing the coat off his back and threatening him with the loss of his shirt and his socks if he does not submit.

All through the present tariff law, passed by a Republican congress and endorsed by a Republican president as THE BEST TARIFF BILL EVER PASSED, are to be found discriminations, the higher duty on the cheaper article, the lower duty on the dearer article, thus placing on the shoulders of those least able to bear it the greater burden of the protective system. Here are some illustrations:

The cheapest wool blankets bear a duty of 105.42 per cent; the dearest 104.55 per cent.

Flannels, not more than 40 cents a pound, are taxed at 143.67 per cent; over 70 cents a pound, 76.37 per cent.

Wool plushes, cheapest, 141.75 per cent; dearest, 95.33 per cent.

Knit fabrics, cheapest, 141 per cent; dearest, 95.53 per cent.

Stockings, worth from $1 to $1.50 a dozen, 76.37 per cent; from $2 to $3 50 per cent.

Hats and bonnets, worth not over $1 a dozen, 62 per cent; over $20 a dozen 85 per cent.

Carpets, highest priced, 50 per cent; that used for mats and rugs, 126.88 per cent.

Women's gloves, unlined, 40 per cent; lined, 34 per cent; longest gloves, unlined, 42 per cent; lined, 29 per cent.

Men's gloves, worth less than $3 a dozen, 68.28 per cent; costliest gloves 14.45 per cent; leather, unlined, 44.58 per cent; lined, 29.50 per cent.

Buckles, cheapest, 77.48 per cent; dearest, 26.33 per cent.

Uncut diamonds bear a 10 per cent duty; imitation diamonds, 20 per cent.

The humble greaser bears: 97.02 per cent duty, while elaborate fireworks bear not 70 per cent.

Mattings, smaller and cheaper grades 42 per cent; costlier, 24 per cent.

Watch movements, seven jewels 66.02 per cent; 11 jewels, 40.41 per cent; 17 jewels, 34.45 per cent.

Underwear, cheapest, 56.90 per cent; dearest, 50 per cent.

Dress goods of wool, cheapest 105.42 per cent; dearest, 94.13 per cent.

Velvets, cheapest, 105.22 per cent; dearest, 49.55 per cent.

Silk handkerchiefs, cheapest, 77.44 per cent; dearest, 59 per cent.

Scissors, worth 50 cents a dozen, 52.21 per cent; worth $1.75 a dozen, 46 per cent.

Table knives, fancy grades, 57.40 per cent; bone handled, 69.43 per cent.

Butcher knives, best grades, 52.10 per cent; cheapest grades, 93.55 per cent.

Files, smallest, $1.20 per cent, long est. 36.81 per cent.

Shotguns, worth from $5 to $10, 47.67 per cent; worth over $10, 45.46 per cent.

These are only a part of the discriminations, gleaned from a swift conning of some of the schedules. Reduced to simplest terms, they mean that the poor man is taxed higher than the rich man.

TRAVELING MEN FOR WOODROW WILSON

He Has a Record of Making Good His Promises to Voters.

The traveling man is a live wire. Traveling men are decided factors in molding public sentiment.

No other class of men come in more forceful contact with the actual condition of the high cost of living without corresponding increase in salaries.

The traveling man need Governor Wilson for their president because his record is that of making good promises and then honestly fulfilling them. Governor Wilson in his candidacy needs the help of every live traveling man.

Every genuinely progressive commercial man who is willing to help Governor Wilson's candidacy is urged to send his name immediately to the Commercial Men's Wilson committee, care Organization bureau, Democratic National headquarters, Fifth Avenue building, New York.

President Taft congratulates the Republican of Maine on what Chairman Hill describes as "an old fashioned victory." Another such and Vermont and Rhode Island would go Democratic in November.

Those who know and feel for Chairman Hill say he really isn't to blame for the Republican presidential candidate's announcement that he "is out of politics."

What's a moosette? A third term peekaboo!

Good for Billiousness.

"I took two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets last night, and I feel fifty per cent. better than I have for weeks," says J. J. Firestone of Abbotstown, Mich. "They are certainly a fine article for biliousness." For sale by The People's Drug Store. Samples free.

J. A. LEREW of Hillsburg sold his two year old bird dog to Calvin Koch of Elk county for $50.

Watch babies bowels till the frosts come. Dr. Fahrney's Teething Syrup keeps them in good shape. Sample free.

BURGESS H. D. JACOBS of East Berlin fell from a hay mow and painfully fractured a rib.

Few, if any, medicines, have met with the uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The remarkable cures of colic and diarrhoea which it has effected in almost every neighborhood have given it a wide reputation. For sale by all dealers.

The James R. Neely property in York Springs was sold by the heirs to Mrs. Sadie J. Albert last week for $1686.

The Men Who Succeed

as heads of large enterprises are men of great energy. Success, to-day, demands health. To all is to fail. It's utter folly for a man to endure a weak, run-down, half alive condition when Electric Bitters will put him right on his feet in short order. "Four bottles did me more real good than any other medicine I ever took," writes Chas. B. Allen, Sylvania, Ga. "After years of suffering with rheumatism, liver trouble, stomach disorders and de-railed kidneys, I am again, thanks to Electric Bitters, sound and well." Try them. Only 50 cents at People's Drug Store.

GEORGE H. CRISWELL of York Springs has bought the property of John Chronister in Reading township at private terms. Possession April 1st.

What We Never Forget

according to science, are the things associated with our early home life, such as Bucklen's Arnica Salve, that mother or grandmother used to cure our burns, boils, scalds, sores, skin eruptions, cuts, sprains or bruises. Forty years of cures prove its merit. Unrivalled for piles, corns or cold-sores. Only 15 cents at People's Drug Store.

JACOB S. SCHWARTZ of Hanover has sold his residence in Hampton to Edgar C. Myers of the latter place.

MR. and MRS. JOHN E. STORM have moved from McSherrystown to their new home in Cobleskill, N. Y.

"Suffered day and night the torment of itching piles. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Ointment. The result was lasting."—Hon. John R. Garrett, Mayor, Girard, Ala.

M. H. GETTYS, a contractor of Harrisburg, expects to bring suit against the borough of York Springs, because while crossing a street in that town he in some way lost control of his automobile and crashed into a lamppost, damaging the machine considerably.

Harsh physics react, weaken the bowels, will lead to chronic constipation. Doan's Regulators operate easily. 25c a box at all stores.

WHILE JEREMIAH LILICH of Abbotstown was helping to thresh at the Robert Ruth farm his hand became accidentally caught in the sprocket wheel of the straw drag, injuring two fingers badly.

How's This?

DONALD HASKELL and Lloyd Gibb of York Springs were playing, when the former fell in the cement gutter and cut a long gash in his head. Dr. Myers took three stitches to close the wound.

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup, and is my best seller." For sale by all dealers.

The New Oxford Shoe Mfg. Co. will build an extension to their present factory in order to accommodate increasing business. The new building will be of brick, 40 x 58 ft.

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weaknesses they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified. FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE it is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.
